Curriculum

Foundations of Private Investigation and Professional Ethics

An overview of private investigations as a profession.

Legal aspects of Private Investigations In Texas

Principles of law and the role of private investigators.

Investigative Techniques & Research I

A review of research practices and sources.

Investigative Techniques and Research II

A focus on conducting investigative interviews and planning, conducting, recording, interpreting, and presenting the results. Learn best practices and real time in-class research.

Surveillance & Undercover Operations

Understand how observation and description are related to investigations. Includes sections on surveillance and undercover/covert operations.

Criminal Investigations I

Learn precise and methodical techniques used in the careful collection of information and evidence in a criminal investigation. Heavy emphasis will be placed on understanding crime scene investigation, discovery, and court testimony. Understand the critical importance of communication with law enforcement, civilians, professionals and other subjects in an investigation.

Civil/Insurance Investigations I

Differentiate and understand insurance, fraud, vehicle, product liability and police-involved investigations.

Domestic and Family Investigations I

Discuss the sensitive nature of all types of cases, review high profile examples and discuss positive business responses. Discuss and prepare for the responsiveness, creativity and sensitivity that are usually needed in large amounts during these investigations.

Pre Employment/Background/Corporate Investigations

Learn how to help companies as well as individuals protect themselves in the marketplace and on the street. Review and understand the rules and regulations surrounding the obtaining of information, how it is obtained, and how it is then communicated effectively to the client.

PI Practice Management

Explore what it takes to establish and structure a private investigation business, and how to work with clients and other professionals in the field. Review Section 1702 of the Texas Occupation Code, the Rules and regulations of the Private Security Board and DPS. Review client interaction, creating partnerships and networks with law enforcement, other professional investigators, and those within the legal field.
